

The Weather

Fair today; tomorrow fair and colder. Details on page 4.

NO. 5586.

AIMS TO UNITE LIBERALS AND LABOR IN PARTY

Conference in Chicago Has Machinists' Head As Leader.

FARMERS WANT COST GUARANTEE

Socialists Favor Use of Organization for General Strikes.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—The formation of an American labor party will be undertaken here tomorrow. More than 100 representatives of labor unions, farm organizations and non-partisans will attend.

The conference is the first step in the movement to amalgamate labor and other elements into a political union. According to William H. Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Machinists, who will act as temporary chairman, it is expected a permanent organization will be formed, a declaration of principles adopted and State organizations started.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

"While this conference cannot hope to set up all the machinery required for a party such as we propose in so short a time as our meeting calls for, we do hope to effect permanent organization, decide unanimously on a declaration of principles, and lay the groundwork for State organizations," he said. "We have called here only the leaders with organized following behind them, prepared to do something in this emergency."

Sees Desperate Situation.

"It is an emergency. The position of labor and of all people looking to progressive legislation was never so desperate—never so black—as it is today. We are in a desperate situation."

The railroad unions alone number nearly 1,000,000 men in normal times, not counting their wives, who also are voters. Other great unions like the United Mine Workers, the 400,000 members, the garment workers, the brick and clay workers, the painters and carpenters, and several others will also be in this movement.

Will Enlist Socialists.

"There will also be efficient representatives of the Socialist party, who, we know, are greatly interested in our campaign."

Amos Pinchot and George L. Record, progressive leaders, will also be present. Besides the railroad unions were a unit on the necessity of political action and that there was more likelihood of political action between these unions and others, notably the miners, than there is for an economic purpose—joint strikes.

Favors General Strikes.

The Socialist party, with more than 1,000,000 Presidential votes in normal years, is also committed to the use of the general strike, according to Otto Branstetter, executive secretary. But the Socialist leaders, it is reported, will ask that the alliance be used in economic crises also to end. Besides the Nonpartisan league delegates who are expected to be headed by Arthur N. Townley, president of the league; the LaFollette organization in Wisconsin will take a prominent part, headed by J. Walter Long, secretary of the United Farmers of America; Michigan farmers by Herbert Baker, state senator and opponent of the Socialist party; and H. L. Bissonnette, president of the Iowa society of Equity.

But the railroad unions as a unit are opposed to all strikes with other unions for strike purposes. It was declared by the president of one of the biggest unions in the federated shop crafts.

Will meet with the miners Tuesday," he said. "While we will be interested to know Lewis' plans, I doubt very much if an alliance for offensive purposes could be formed."

Seek Farmer Sentiment.

"We favor political action as the true basis of the movement. The leaders of the movement are very anxious, it was stated, to learn just what proposals the farm group will have to offer to the conference. The farmers met in a preliminary session here, and under the direction of the Nonpartisan league officials, mapped out a political organization of their own, patterned after the National Farmers' Union, with plans to operate on a national scale. H. Wells Andrews, an Illinois "dirt" farmer was named president, and it is stated organization work would have been agricultural State in the country."

Also Government Guarantee.

The platform calls for government guarantee of the cost of production of farm products, payment of the soldiers' bonus by taxation of incomes, inheritance and excess profits; government operation of natural resources; regulation of livestock prices; and the operation of railroads "for public service instead of for private gain."

Psycho-Analyst Deduces Blonde Killed Taylor

Fair-Haired Women Less Violent Than Brunettes.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—"If a woman murdered William Desmond Taylor, she was blonde," says Dr. Andre Tridon, psycho-analyst.

Dr. Tridon explained: "The adrenal gland, a small gland located above the kidneys, the physical center of the soul, differences between blondes and brunettes. In blondes, this gland has a large center and a thin covering of cortex. The center of the gland makes excitations as a result of fear, and the covering makes an excretion of anger. The blonde has more fear and less anger than the brunette. It is a simple matter of physical fact."

"In the case of a man who is shot in the back, evidently from ambush or by an unseen assailant, it is almost dead certain that the woman who did it, if it was a woman, had blonde hair and a fair complexion. A brunette, being more violent in temperament, would have faced the man she killed in order to have the violent pleasure of letting him know she was doing it."

"This does not mean that blondes are less emotional than brunettes. They are not. The law, physical or psychological, to regulate the emotions. I mean only that blondes are less violent than brunettes. The dark peoples of the earth, moved by deep passions and passions, are the people who use knives and like to get at close quarters with their victims when they go out to kill."

Dr. Tridon said he had committed the Taylor murder she might have used a stiletto, or knife of some kind. At any rate, she would have faced him and shot while he realized she was doing it. The blonde demands active contact with the object of her love or hatred."

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

Will Enter Fall Campaign.

With this accomplished, Johnston said, the party will either endorse candidates for Congressional nomination favorable to the party's principles or will place its own candidates in the primaries this fall.

The plan is to consolidate our political party similar to the British labor party, committed to progressivism, and prepared to swing its strength to whatever candidates meet its requirements.

MISSOURI GOP. FIGHTS TO FILL REED'S PLACE

Republicans See Big Chance to Elect Another Senator.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 19.—Republicans here and in St. Louis are preparing to make the most of what appears to them an unusual opportunity to elect a Republican Senator from Missouri this year to succeed James A. Reed.

The steady growth of the Republican party in this border State, to a point that has shifted Missouri from the sure Democratic to the doubtful column, and the bitter strife among the Democrats are the chief considerations on which Republican hopes are based.

Whether Senator Reed will be a candidate for renomination is uncertain. The Senator is now in the State making a few speeches and looking over his fences, but says he has not decided whether he will retire from public life and moving to New York to practice law. Some of his closest friends, however, are convinced he will be a candidate in the August primary.

As an irreconcilable and abusive opponent of the administration of the Wilson administration on the Versailles treaty, the league of nations and many other issues Reed has created considerable havoc in the Democratic party in Missouri from which arises some doubt of his ability to win renomination and considerably more doubt of the possibility of his election.

Mr. Reed's opponents are said to be on the alert for a move to be made on Reed and vowing vengeance. Many will support any opponent in the primary and if Reed be nominated, there are many who will vote for the Republican candidate, according to some of the anti-Reed contingent.

In his speeches in Missouri in the past few days Reed has been endeavoring to rally to his support all those who are disgusted with the Harding administration for hard times.

Organization Is Strong.

With times improving generally, however, and the farmers in particular beginning to receive practical results from their grain, hogs and sheep, the value of this appeal becomes doubtful.

The Senator also works himself up into a fury over the looting of American billions to the "bankrupt" nations of Europe.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.

Reed's strength lies in his political organization and in his habit of carefully neglecting to point out that none of these loans was made by the Harding administration.